

“Imagine, the end is just the beginning”

To be viewed with humour as an imaginative picture,
a balloon captures the last earthly breath,
as the soul and spirit are released.

Our physical Death, is but a new spiritual birth.
Here, in respect to there former temple,
the soul and spirit raise the dead
body upwards towards the higher realms.

My intention with this work, is to remind us that each day we live, the soul and spirit, also lifts the body upright, opposing gravity so we can move and become living spiritualized matter.

Size- - excluding the base rock, it is 22 cm in height.

Made from bronze resin , Price £ 650 This is also available in bronze, and can be enlarged to various sizes. Contact me to discuss details and price.